The district court will probably adjourn its term to-day.

A mirthful matinee this afternoon—Rice's "Evangeline."

A sick German was given lodgings in the city jail last night.

See W. C. Stacy & Co., No. 4 Main, for bargains in real estate.

J. W. & E. L. Squire's abstracts are giving good satisfaction.

One vagrant gave all the business done in the police court yesterday.

An iron bridge is being built across the creek north of the dummy depot.

The prisoners found guilty at this term of court are to be sentenced to-day.

'Squire Biggs has tied the knot making Samuel Gray and Mary E. Cook one.

The District Telegraph company will extend its lines and service this spring.

Attend the meeting this evening in the city hall and help frame a good ticket for school directors.

Six drunks last night were compelled to remain in the city jail, to face the police judge this morning.

The amount of dust flying yesterday aroused a strong demand for the street sprinklers to open their season.

The odorless sanitary company will have a machine here to-day and begin the work of cleaning cesspools, vaults, etc.

Squire's park addition is a sure investment. Pacific avenue will be built up with store buildings within a year.

Captain Anderson of the merchants police force last night arrested four men for being drunk and disturbing the peace.

Samuel Johnson, who jumped from the Rock Island train, has recovered his reason and gone to his home in Butte City, Mont.

The replacing of a large plate window in the front of Crookwell's store, yesterday interested a crowd of gentlemen of leisure.

Louise Butts yesterday bought of H. J.
Chambers, through the agency of J. G.
Tipton, five lots in Pierce's addition, the price being $1,800.

The case of Knipper vs. C. R. Scott, assigned for Portland, which has been hanging along several terms in court, came up again yesterday.

The paper mill is crowded with orders and can hardly keep up. More machinery will be added, and the mill will be made one of the largest and best in the country.

William Tax and Emma Holland were united in marriage Thursday, March 10, at the residence of G. W. Crossley, in Garner township. Dr. McCreary officiated.

Mrs. Hancock was complained of by a neighbor, Mrs. Smith, for wearing the dress of the junior Smiths. Justice Schurz heard the case, and discharged Mrs.
Hancock.

Keep the move going for hanging electric lights in the middle of each business block. The expense is only nominal, and it will add greatly to the appearance of the streets at night.

The Salvation Army is trying to raise $10,000 for new and permanent barracks here. There is some talk of buying Doherty's hall, on Broadway street, for others favor putting up a new building.

J. D. Hornby has sued the Logan Courier for $10,000. This suit was caused by the publication of an article September 9, 1886, written over the signature of E. L. Squire, in Council Bluffs, and reflecting on Mr. Hornby.

Judge Aylesworth yesterday discharged Sargent, the man with the striking machine, charged with swindling.
As the evidence against Sargent was stronger than against the two others it was concluded to let them go also.

At a meeting of the council last night the bid of M. A. Moore for building the levee was accepted. "he being the lowest and most responsible bidder," as stated in the resolution which passed. The council adjourned until Monday night.

Roland Reed made a very gauzy excuse for not stopping in Council Bluffs.
He says he had some business to attend to early in the morning. The 7 o'clock dummy train is ordinarily early enough, especially for an actor who has to be up late.

Old men's entertainments are becoming popular, and are proving quite successful. A number of representative old men, from sixty to eighty years of age, form the company. They furnish old-fashioned music, and relate reminiscences of their early years.

The aldermen have had their limbs and lives jeopardized long enough by the rugged matting on the stairs leading to the council chamber. It has therefore been replaced by new. Now if the building itself can be replaced by a new one it will be better still.

At the war song concert an amusing line coincidence furnished much merriment to some in the audience. The lights had been turned low while the song "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" was being sung. Following this came "The Star Spangled Banner." The lights were so dim that the singers were straining their eyes greatly, and they naturally put a great deal of enthusiasm into the line commencing, "Oh, say can you see?" No, they couldn't.

Caught By Rainbow.
Last night Sheriff Rainbow, of Shelby county, returned from the Indian territory, bringing with him William Gorrich, a horse thief, who was indicted in January. The sheriff caught his man in "No Man's Country." While in pursuit of Gorrich's half brother, George Canton, was shot by the officers as Canton was trying to help his brother escape before his capture. Gorrich was placed in charge of Constable Picketts, and was allowed to remain at the Pacific house last night, but this morning will be taken to Harlan.

The Saloon Cases to Be Decided Today—Evangeline at the Opera House—Nominating Non-Partisan School Directors.

A Knock-Down Argument.

The saloon injunction cases were occupying Judge Thornell's attention yesterday. Mr. Haldane took much of the forenoon in his argument resisting the injunctions asked for. In the course of the argument Mr. Haldane sharply scored the two informers, who went about gathering up evidence against the saloons. As they had signed affidavits claiming that they purchased drinks of men, who, it appeared, had not been in business here for months, Mr. Haldane denounced these two informers as perjurers. He was quite bitter and sharp in his handling of the matter and there was considerable heating of blood.

On the opening of court in the afternoon Mr. Sims began his argument. He retaliated by charging some of Mr. Haldane's clients with having perjured themselves by the affidavits they had filed.

Mr. Haldane was sitting on the opposite side of the table, and he sprang forward in his chair, half rising to his feet, and exclaimed: "You're a dirty liar!" This was too much for Sims, and he excitedly turned toward him, and bending over the table pounded it with his fist as he informed the opposing barrister: "Don't you call me a liar, sir." With this Haldane slapped Sims across the face with his open hand. Sims started around the end of the table to get at him, and Haldane "put up his dukes" with a professional air that indicated a lively sparring match. Before the two came together Deputy Sheriff O'Neill was between them, and as intervener proved a success.

Quiet being restored, Judge Thornell told them to proceed with their business, and he would settle the affair afterward.

Mr. Sims resumed and concluded his argument without any further sensational episodes.

Mr. Haldane then arose and expressed to the court a disclaimer against any intentional disrespect to the court. He felt that it was a question of place, mainly, and that the court room was not the place for such a scene. He did not want to explain to the court for the sake of forestalling any action the court might be contemplating in regard to the affair.

Judge Thornell replied that he was greatly in doubt what to do. The affair was beyond any experience he had ever had in the practice of law.

He then announced that he would take the injunction cases under advisement until this morning, when a decision is expected.

Judge Thornell entered contempt of court against Haldane, giving him until this morning to file any pleadings he saw fit and Haldane asked that contempt be entered against Sims also.

No Bonnets.

"I see some few of the ladies now wear no bonnets in the theatre," remarked one of the ladies of fashion. "Council Bluffs seems slow to adopt the latest style in such matters. In New York the question of bonnet or no bonnet has long since been settled, and against the bonnet. In an Omaha audience the other night I saw a good many ladies without bonnets, but here there are not many yet who take them off."

It is a good thing for hair dressers, for when a lady appears without a bonnet her hair has to be arranged more elaborately. Some ladies insist on having their hair as prettily dressed as if they were at an evening party.

Mrs. Gillette, the well known dealer here, gives out the following as the latest notes on ladies' hairdressing, as agreed to by the New York association of dealers: Fashionable ladies will still wear their hair high this coming spring and summer.

For ordinary wear the back hair is twisted on top of the head, with two loops forming a bow-knot. For evening wear the hair is dressed high, the back hair curved slightly and pulled in graceful loops on the top of the head. A novelty in chignon called the "sapho" is also much worn; two long strands of wavy hair, with curled ends, are interlaced in such a manner as to form a perfect coil fastened on a comb of peculiar shape.
The front hair is much worn by being trimmed in the usual bang shape, but left rather long, and curled back, pompadour shape in center of forehead, with a few flat curls on each side.

Ladies do not get their hair cut short as much as they used to, but are letting it grow, and have it curled on the back of the head.

Evangeline To-Day.
This afternoon Rice's beautiful "Evangeline" will be given as a matinee, and this evening it will be produced again at the opera house. Many new features have been introduced, and with all the merits of the old, with the attractions of the new, the play should cause the house to be crowded afternoon and evening.

The company has just had a wonderfully successful engagement at Hooley's in Chicago, and the Telegram devotes over a column of illustrated matter describing its attractive features. In the course of the article the Telegram says:
"This pure burlesque, with its pretty story, beautiful music, gorgeous scenery, and magnificent costumes, has made the greatest hit of the age, running 253 nights in New York to immense audiences, and 102 nights in Chicago to the largest audiences and the longest run ever known in this city, its magnificent scenery, gorgeous costumes, and startling mechanical effects have been a theme of praise and discussion all over the country, and wherever it has appeared audiences large enough to pack the theatres to its doors have been the rule. Take it in its entirety there has never been presented a better or purer burlesque than Rice's beautiful "Evangeline." Satony, the Napoleon of photographers, in speaking of it, said:
"It is simply bewitching, and Rice is the king of caterers to all that pertains to the beautiful, musical and artistic, on the stage."

the P. C. B. Electric Light company, of our city, the following electric arc lights to be placed on the lower of the county court houses, four lights to be placed upon the tower of the Bloomer school house; four lights to be placed upon the tower of the Masonic temple; four lights to be placed upon the tower of the Methodist church. Provided permission can be obtained from the owners and proprietors of said buildings.

The School Board.
A meeting has been called for the city hall to-night to nominate a non-partisan ticket for school directors. The action of the democratic city convention, by which a straight party ticket was nominated, has caused considerable dissatisfaction.
Many object to some of the men nominated, others object still more to the new departure by which the democrats seek to drag politics into the school board election. Hence the calling of this meeting. It is hoped that it will be as largely attended as to be a strong expression of the sentiments of the people, without resulting to party lines.
